

Technical Author (m/w)

The jobholders has to do the following tasks:

The scope of duties includes the entire process of coordination and production/modification of technical documentation and/or operational documentation for A/C systems and complex system components and aircraft equipment with varied, complex interfaces in the overall system and a wide range of functions and links conforming to new and future technologies. In addition the chosen candidate will be responsible for execution of the respective functional certificates. The products are to be prepared in German and/or English. Generation and change management/revision service of technical manuals for A/C systems, subsystems and equipment.

- Collection and evaluation of reason for update (RFU)
- Investigation of source data
- Harmonization, approval and incorporation of authorized updates
- Preparation of draft (for verification of the client/customer)
- Final print to be triggered/Initiate production after release and/or activate print service
- Quality assurance

Your profile:

- Bachelor or Master in Engineering
- min. 2 years experience in Engineering, Projectmanagement, QM
- Experience in technical authoring is required
- Fundamental knowledge in the following systems is required: - A/C and system sensors, subsystems, Equipment and how they interlink - of ability to illustrate complex technical issues - of TechPub specifications (GAF T. O., ASD Spec S1000D)
- Knowledge regarding the following Tools is required: EPIC (SGML/XML), CSDB,IETP-X, Quicksilver and Product Data Management Systems
- German fluent
- advanced English